Lunar Exploration Begins Today

ONE LAST STEP—The last two men to walk on the lunar surface for some time, Apollo 17 mission commander Gene Cernan and lunar module pilot Harrison Schmitt are shown boarding ladder of lunar module, in this artist's conception. The astronauts are scheduled to touch down on the Moon, 3 p.m. today. After exploring the Taurus-Littrow landing site, they will return to the lunar module to begin their voyage home.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — American explorers Eugene A. Cernan and Harrison H. Schmitt pulled away from the Apollo 17 command ship in a lander named Challenger today and prepared for touchdown in a lunar box canyon and man's last planned moon exploration for decades.

Wearing their white spacesuits, Cernan and Schmitt sealed themselves in the small cab of the spider-legged Challenger, leaving their crewmate, Ronald E. Evans, alone in the larger command ship, America.

Evans threw switches to undock the moon landing craft and Challenger sprang free.

Cernan and Schmitt began final preparations for a dive to a lunar touchdown at 2:55 p.m. EST and Evans started the three days of solo moon orbiting aboard America.

The astronauts awoke to music, piped to them from Mission Control, at 7:45 a.m. EST after spending the night orbiting 15 miles above the moon's barren surface.

Cernan and Schmitt donned space suits and started transferring equipment and supplies into Challenger.

Evans will remain in lunar orbit aboard the command ship. He will probe the moon from above with an array of science instruments and special cameras.

Ahead for Cernan and Schmitt are three days of exploration among the craters hills and canyons of a steep-sided valley called Taurus-Littrow.

As the 11th and 12th lunar explorers, they will walk and drive more than 20 miles over the valley floor searching among rock and soil for secrets needed to complete the moon history already partially recorded through five earlier American landings.

America and Challenger, still locked nose-to-nose, swept behind the moon and out of touch with Mission Control at 2:36 p.m. EST Sunday. Eleven minutes later, they fired America's powerful service propulsion rocket engine to slow the speeding craft and settle it into lunar orbit.

As in past moon flights, Mission Control waited through the silence for word of a successful firing, this time for 22 minutes.

Then the spacecraft shot from behind the moon; and, from a quarter million miles away, Cernan's voice crackled into the control center:

"Thumbs up, America has arrived on station for the challenge ahead."

Sophisticated Spy Devices Found In U.S. Embassies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The era of attempted eavesdropping on U.S. diplomats abroad through cumbersome wire-connected microphones is over. Hostile agents are trying more advanced devices, small enough to be dropped into a martini or planted in a shoe.

So reports the State Department's deputy assistant secretary for security, G. Marvin Gentile, who is responsible for safeguarding U.S. missions overseas.

Gentile, in an unusual interview dealing with the continuing undercover-intelligence struggle, disclosed that in the last year or so his sleuths have uncovered at U.S. embassies in Communist East European countries:

—A tiny radio hidden in a heel of a shoe of a senior U.S. diplomat. It had good sound pickup and could transmit 300 yards to listening points outside the embassy.

The bug was secretly placed in the heel when the diplomat's maid took the shoes out for "repair." A U.S. security officer, presumably using modern detection gear, soon discovered his colleague was a walking broadcasting station.

—A miniature transmitter tucked into an innocent-looking binder holding curtain samples.

Gentile said this spy device, which turned out to have a broadcasting range of 400 yards, was spotted before it got into any embassy room where secret information was discussed.

Both devices fit Gentile's definition of "drop transmitters"—tiny radio transmitters, usually battery-powered, which can be easily hidden and quickly implanted in an office or on a person.

A popular spy tactic used to be to hide microphones in U.S. embassies and link them by wire to outside listening posts. This climaxed in 1964 with removal of 52 microphones from the American embassy in Moscow and 55 from the embassy in Warsaw.

Gentile said such eavesdropping installations were possible in the first years after World War II, when U.S. diplomats moved into buildings which had not been under U.S. guard.

"The technological advances of electronics and miniaturization have made these wired systems obsolete" and "round-the-clock guarding of U.S. embassies prevents hostile agents from maintaining them, he said.

He said the spying attempts continue regardless of changes in the international political climate and that espionage devices "are uncovered with alarming regularity."

Revenue Sharing Arrives

The first federal revenue sharing checks were received by Circleville and Pickaway County today.

The city's check was in the amount of $53,440 while the county's was for $95,999. Distribution of checks to the townships and the villages in the county will be handled through the office of State Auditor Joseph Ferguson according to Marvin Rhodes, county auditor.

Pickaway County Commissioner Dick T. Tootle said the amount received by the county was less than anticipated. The commissioners had been told earlier to expect $112,000 in federal revenue sharing funds.

A very complex formula using the tax effort of a community, population and per capita income is used to arrive at the distribution figure according to Tootle.

"If we use the money to reduce local taxes, the amount we received will be reduced accordingly," the chairman of the board of commissioners stated.

Communities will receive the next check for the second half of 1972 sometime in January. Thereafter, checks will be mailed on a quarterly basis.

"Success of the federal revenue sharing program depends on how wisely the money is spent on the local level," Tootle said. "I feel we can do a much better job of spending the money here than can be done in Washington."

Local governments must account for every penny of the funds to the federal government. Tootle said that county offices receiving federal funds will be told that "if the federal revenue sharing rug is pulled out from under us, we will have to live without it." There is no way the county general fund can make up the difference in the budget for a loss in the federal funds according to Tootle. Those programs funded by the federal money will have to be discontinued if that happens, he pointed out.

Seek Cause Of Jet Crash Fatal To 45

CHICAGO (AP) — Investigators continue to sift through the charred pieces of a United Air Lines Boeing 737 jet which crashed in a residential neighborhood here Friday, trying to find the cause of the disaster.

The job of identifying the bodies of the 45 victims ended Sunday. In some cases, relatives did not recognize victims, and the coroner's office was forced to rely on dental charts and fingerprints.

Twelve of the 18 victims who survived the crash remained hospitalized, including one in an intensive care unit. She is Margarite McCausland, a stewardess.

The dead include two women who were killed in their home when the plane plowed into rows of brick bungalows while approaching Midway Airport on the Southwest Side.

Meanwhile, a team of 15 aeronautic engineers from the National Transportation Safety Board combed the wreckage. Officials said they hope to have all the chunks moved to a Midway hangar sometime today.

Edward T. Slatery, NTSB's director of public affairs, said investigators do not intend to reconstruct the aircraft at this time. "This is done in cases of structural failure," he said, adding that did not appear to have been the cause of the crash.

Firemen digging through the rubble Saturday found a purse containing $10,585 in cash. The purse belonged to Mrs. Howard E. Hunt of Potomac, Md., a passenger killed in the accident.

Mrs. Hunt's husband, E. Howard Hunt, is a former U. S. ambassador to Uruguay and a consultant to the Nixon administration.

Kissinger-Tho Marathon Talks Seen Hopeful Sign

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho met for the 13th time in three weeks today at what may be a turning point in their secret negotiations on a Vietnam peace settlement.

President Nixon's security adviser and the North Vietnamese Politburo member met in an American rented villa in suburban Neuilly where they held several secret meetings last week. Their talks were recessed Sunday while experts of both sides met to discuss details of a possible cease fire agreement.

Except for a nine-day break,

Kissinger and Tho have met almost daily since Nov. 20, when they began their current session to revise and finalize the agreement they drafted here in October.

During Sunday's recess, Kissinger's top aide, Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., was in Washington conferring with Nixon.

Haig left Paris Saturday and met for several hours with the President Sunday. There had been reports the general would return to Paris immediately and soon thereafter go on to Saigon to give President Nguyen Van Thieu a personal report on the Paris meetings. But White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said: "We don't have any plan set on that."

The meeting of technical experts Sunday resulted in speculation that the two sides had gotten to the point of checking the fine print of a draft peace agreement. But both sides continued their news blackout.

One indication that the talks might be at a turning point was the arrival from Moscow of another member of the North Vietnamese Politburo, Le Thanh Nghi. His visit had not been announced in advance, but presumably he came to confer with Tho about the negotiations.

Meanwhile, Hanoi Radio said that, because a cease-fire agreement had not been signed, the North Vietnamese people realize they cannot achieve their goals "without continuing the fight."

In Saigon, the South Vietnamese government said it has evidence North Vietnam intends to take over the South after a cease-fire agreement is signed. The official radio said the government had "acquired a secret Communist document" revealing a three-phase takeover plan.

Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam, in a talk with newsmen, renewed Saigon's long-standing demand that Hanoi agree formally to withdraw its troops from the South. He conceded that Washington and Hanoi might sign a cease-fire agreement without Saigon's concurrence, but he said: "It's hard to believe there will be a separate agreement — it's hard to believe. We would like to be with our allies all the time, for the good as for the bad."

coastal plain, wiped out a Communist barracks; and 91 enemy bodies were found, the South Vietnamese reported. South Vietnamese infantrymen located 40 weapons among the debris of 15 barracks buildings and 2½ tons of rice left by those who fled.

In the southernmost Mekong Delta province, An Xuyen, militiamen fought off a heavy enemy attack on an outpost Sunday and killed 25 Communists, but 14 of the militiamen were killed and 11 were wounded in the battle, the Saigon command reported.

A total of 70 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong attacks were reported across South Vietnam from 6 a.m. Sunday to 6 a.m. Monday, the command announced. All but 17 were by shelling.

Infiltrating Red Unit Fights With Militia Near Tay Ninh

SAIGON (AP) — Fresh North Vietnamese troops today were reported infiltrating toward Saigon from the Parrot's Beak region of Cambodia. They ran into a battalion of South Vietnamese militia and touched off one of the sharpest ground battles in weeks.

Initial field reports said 87 North Vietnamese were killed in the fighting nine miles south of the provincial capital of Tay Ninh.

Thirteen U.S. B52 strikes were flown in an arc-shaped area stretching 23 miles northeast and 48 miles northwest of Saigon, the U.S. Command reported. The strikes apparently were in response to the enemy thrust.

More strikes were flown in Binh Duong Province, south and east of Tay Ninh. They were the heaviest in that province since Oct. 6.

About 20 of the big bombers struck again at a North Vietnamese staging area just above the demilitarized zone, dropping some 600 tons of bombs within a five-mile radius.

Truman's Heart Again Acting Up

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The heart of Harry S. Truman continues to show irregularities in rhythm, doctors reported today, but the former president told them "I feel all right" and spent a restful night.

The 88-year-old Truman remained in serious condition this morning, hospital officials said.

A morning medical report from Research Hospital and Medical Center said Truman was asked Sunday night about 11 p.m. EST how he felt and he responded: "I feel all right." This came after his heart had developed irregularities.

Truman also was asked if he hurt anywhere, and replied "no," the hospital reported.

The next bulletin on his condition was scheduled for 10 p.m. EST.

Sunday began on an optimistic note as the former president was taken off the critical list after four days of being near death, but late Sunday doctors reported "more frequent abnormalities" in the rhythm of Truman's heart.

A hospital spokesman said he had no additional information about the latest development but said both Truman's personal physician and a cardiac specialist had returned to the hospital within an hour from the time the abnormal rhythm was detected at 8:45 p. m. EST.

Two daytime reports Sunday said the former chief executive's pulse was in the 70s, his temperature less than 100 degrees and his physiological response improved. At one point, the 88-year-old Truman told a nurse he was feeling better.

But, beside the report of renewed cardiac difficulties, the latest bulletin said only:

"There has been a slight decrease in blood pressure requiring medication to bring it to within normal limits. He is resting quietly and having no difficulties with respiration. Other physiological signs remain satisfactory. Doctors still characterize his condition as serious."

The spokesman also said Truman's wife, Bess, 87, and Margaret Truman Daniel, their daughter and only child, had been informed of the setback. The spokesman said he did not know if the two women were at the hospital at the time.

Heartened by the earlier bulletins, Mrs. Daniel issued a statement that she and her mother were "very happy and encouraged."

One of the bulletins had described the former President as "more alert and able to talk at times for short periods."

Truman was taken to Research Hospital and Medical Center last Tuesday night with lung congestion and bronchitis. Complications later strained his heart and kidneys, and his condition was changed to critical Wednesday night.

In news media guides provided by the hospital, serious is described as "acutely ill with recovery uncertain. Vital signs may be unstable and not within normal limits. A chance for improved diagnosis."

Critical condition is defined by the hospital as "vital signs are unstable and not within normal limits. There are major complications. Death may be imminent."

Police, Deputies Check Six Break-ins, Thefts

Roundtowners and residents throughout the county have been "decking the halls" and lighting the exteriors of their homes in preparation for the holiday.

The bright look the city wears at this time of year is a symbol of the pride and pleasure citizens have in it.

And this is exactly what the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce wants.

A brighter, merrier holiday season, was the goal of the Chamber when it initiated its decorating contest years ago.

This year however, the Chamber will not be sponsoring the project, since the membership feels it has fulfilled the purpose it had in mind when it originated the Christmas Decorating Contest.

It has encouraged in home decorating in areas throughout the Circleville area — and this tells all visitors here during the holiday season that Circleville citizens are proud of their city.

Williamsport this year is having its own decorating contest, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. Judging is to take place Dec. 27 and entries will be received up to that date.

No contest is slated in Ashville again this year.

McGovern May Keep List Of Contributors Quiet

WASHINGTON (AP) — While the forces of defeated Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern decide whether to turn over to party leaders a 700,000-name list of contributors, they are using that list to raise funds for McGovern's own 1974 Senate race in South Dakota.

By renting it to liberal organizations and magazines seeking subscribers, they hope to raise from $200,000 to $250,000 within the next few weeks.

The list of persons who gave an unprecedented total of more than $14 million in small contributions to the McGovern campaign, thus making it a success in the financial sense, would be useful to Democratic party leaders even though many on it were personal supporters of the South Dakota senator.

The party's new national chairman, Robert Strauss of Texas, said Sunday on CBS' "Face the Nation" that he anticipates little difficulty in gaining access to the list, although the matter didn't come up when McGovern called to congratulate him.

But sources close to McGovern said there has been no decision on whether to make the list available to the party leadership or to keep possession of it for the senator's own use and for candidates and causes he wishes to back.

"It could be real sticky," one aide said in discussing the matter, noting that the list was built up by McGovern over the past 2 1/2 years and belongs to him, rather than the party.

The aide said the going rate for rental of such a list is $35 per 1,000 names, meaning that rental of the full list could bring close to $25,000.

It is a common practice in fund-raising to rent lists others have put together, seeking to bring a sufficient return so that the rental cost is exceeded by new contributions.

The McGovern list, far more extensive than the one put together by Strauss as party treasurer from March 1970 to July 1972, was itself compiled by using subscription lists for liberal publications and McGovern's efforts to raise funds for an antiwar amendment and Democratic senatorial candidates in 1970.

Plan Atom Generator For Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 17 astronauts will spend at least half their time during their first moonwalk tonight setting up a laboratory which is to send information to earth for two years or longer.

Harrison H. Schmitt, a geologist, and Eugene A. Cernan will install a $125 million laboratory, powered by a nuclear generator. It may take four hours of their first seven-hour walk.

This will be the fourth nuclear generator operating on the moon.

The first went up with Apollo 12, and four of the five instruments operating with its power have continued to send information to earth since November 1969.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials say the Apollo 17 generator may continue functioning into the 21st century, although no one knows how long the instruments will continue to operate in the cycles of extreme heat and cold on the lunar surface.

Instruments to be installed by the two moon walkers will measure such things as the moon's internal temperature, tremors beneath the lunar surface, gravitational and magnetic forces and particles in the thin lunar atmosphere.

Ice Storm Hits Plains, Southeast

An ice storm glazed the southern plains and the southeast today.

Freezing rain and drizzle glossed much of the central and northern parts of Texas and from Arkansas to western Tennessee and over the northern parts of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.

But while the southeast had some of the worst, it also enjoyed some of the best weather. It was quite cold over most of the country — except the Atlantic seaboard states and the southeast.

Below-zero temperatures were registered in the central Rockies, central plains and the middle Mississippi Valley.

Bench OK; Find No Malignancy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Surgeons removed what they described as an "inflammatory lesion" from the right lung of Cincinnati Reds catcher Johnny Bench this morning and indicated there was no apparent malignancy.

"The surgery, including frozen section of the lesion, has now been completed and the chest is being closed," Dr. George Ballou, Reds team physician, said in a statement issued at 10:20 a.m. (EST), slightly more than two hours after Bench entered surgery.

"Examination of the lesion revealed no existence of a (malignant) tumor, but did reveal it was an inflammatory lesion," Ballou said.

"Tests are being run on this to determine the cause," he said.

Surgery was performed by Dr. Luis Gonzalez, Bench's personal doctor at Christ Hospital.

Village Starts Decorating Contest; City Phases Out

Police and Sheriff's Deputies are investigating six breaking and entering and theft claims which occurred over the weekend.

Mrs. Candice Dresbach, 20, 152 1/2 W. Main St., told city police that burglars took $472 worth of jewelry and a 6-month supply of birth control pills from her apartment between 4:30 p.m. and 6 p.m. Saturday. She left the door unlocked so a friend could go into the apartment.

Missing items include a white gold diamond ring valued at $150, a yellow gold diamond ring valued at $300, a charm bracelet valued at $10 and 6 pairs of ear rings valued at $12.

Thieves ripped plastic from the rear door of Kenny Certain's 386 Walnut St. home late Friday night to take a 4.10 gauge and a 20 gauge shotgun.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Stockman, 376 Northridge Rd., told deputies that thieves had broken into their house between 7 and 9 p.m. Sunday.

Nothing was missing but the house was ransacked.

Thieves took $133.40 in change and merchandise from the Lawnfield Drive home of Kenneth Palmer Sunday afternoon. Missing was a camera, film, and change.

Mrs. Elsie Wiggins, Route 4, reported that thieves broke a glass in a door to gain entrance to her house between 6:15 p.m. and 10:15 p.m. Sunday. Nothing was taken but there was $9 damage.

Thieves did an estimated $20 damage to the Lawnfield Drive home of Jack Willis between 2:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. Sunday. Nothing was tkane.

Two Injured In 8 Wrecks

Two people were injured in eight traffic accidents investigated by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department Saturday.

Maribel Ater, 54, Columbus, said she was forced off Route 138 by a truck she was trying to pass 11:15 a.m. The car went off the left berm and crashed into a telephone pole inflicting heavy damage to its front end.

She was treated at Berger Hospital for a laceration to her left eyebrow and contusions.

Deputy Sheriff Bill Dountz termed Ronald B. Scarbrough, 18, Route 1, Williamsport, "lucky" after his 10:10 p.m. crash that completely demolished his car.

Deputy Dountz said Scarbrough was northbound on the Circleville-London-Northern Rd. when he lost control of his car in a curve. The vehicle jumped a guard rail and rode it 75 feet before crashing over a 100 foot embankment and landing on its top.

The car apparently just missed smashing into a concrete drain culvert and came within 5 feet of landing in eight feet of water.

He was treated for a laceration to his left ear and right hand. Dountz charged him with excessive speed.

Man Overcome By Smoke While Fighting Fire

Paul Gerhardt, 42, Route 2, Circleville, was treated at Berger Hospital after he was overcome by smoke 2 p.m. Saturday.

He was shoveling shelled corn that had caught on fire in a corn dryer 6:38 a.m. Saturday on his farm on the Frankfort-Westfall Rd.

The Williamsport Fire Department responded to the initial call.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Young Celebrity Boosts Ego

DEAR ABBY: Recently there has been a lot of publicity about a romance between two celebrities - the woman being quite a bit older than the man. What a switch! Hooray for the man who publicly stated that he prefers "mature women."

For years, women have watched older men go for young girls, and now along comes a handsome, talented young man who isn't ashamed to let the world know that he prefers a "Mature" woman. What a boost that has been to the morale of the middle-aged woman.

Thank "you-know-who" for me, will you, Abby?

A MATURE WOMAN
DEAR MATURE: Mature men always have preferred mature women. But maturity doesn't automatically come with age alone. I say, "Hooray for both of them!"

DEAR ABBY: I can no longer remain silent. Mothers who read their children's diaries deserve what they get.

As a child, I kept a diary, and I'm sure my mother would have turned white had she read it. Perhaps my mother was unusual, but I know she never touched my diary, because I always left it a certain way so I could tell if it had been opened, and it never had.

Abby, I was a very romantic child, and my fantasies were positively wild! I recorded "experiences" in my diary that took place only in my imagination. For example: "I must be careful not to call Mr. Smith 'Pete' in front of my parents because they are very friendly with him and his wife. I wonder what my folks would say if they knew that I sneak out every night to meet him secretly?" (I was all of 14 years old, and poor Mr. Smith never gave me more than a fatherly pat on the head, but I had a mad crush on him.)

I also wrote, (at 15), "I think I am pregnant. The doctor says he isn't sure, but I think he's wrong. If I am, I'll have to run away because I wouldn't know who the father is... I've had so many lovers!"

Now that I am married and have children of my own, I'd never dare to read their diaries. I haven't the courage!

Thanks for letting me say this.
GOOD MEMORY
DEAR GOOD: And thanks for a good letter.

DEAR ABBY: That letter from the idiot who doesn't like to be called "nurse" makes a retired dogface infantry soldier feel like swatting her bottom with a crutch.

Before World War II, we never called a medical officer or nurse by their military rank unless we didn't like them, or thought they were a lousy doctor or nurse. We even called the medical aidman attached to the company "Doc," provided he measured up.

Only those who have had to call "Medic!" in a combat area can understand why, to a doughfoot, the title of "doctor" or "nurse" carried more respect and outright reverence than "general" or "admiral."

Booming Auto Production Gives Steel Healthy Glow

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A schedule that calls for more automobiles to be built in the first quarter of 1973 than in any previous quarter is added assurance that the nation's steel industry has some busy months ahead, Industry Week magazine said today.

The first quarter schedule calls for production of 2,643,000 passenger autos which is 19,000 more than the previous high set in the fourth quarter of 1965.

CJHS Plans Two Yule Music Programs

Circleville Junior High School will be presenting two Christmas Music Programs, vocal music 1 p.m. Friday in the Junior High School Auditorium and 2 p.m. Dec. 21 the instrumental music program in the Mill Street Gym. Both programs will consist of sacred and secular selections, the vocal program will be followed by a Christmas Carol sing.

The public is cordially invited to attend both of these programs.

Also shoring up steel demands are the capital goods and construction industries. The business weekly said plates and structurals used in the heavy goods and construction industries have been in increased demand.

Industry Week said this supports expectations that shipment gains will come next year in such heavy products.

Forecasters have junked their previous December production estimates of 7.7 million tons of steel and instead jumped their guesses to 8.3 million tons.

The new speculation takes into account the probability of 500,000 tons being ordered to beat Jan. 1 price hikes.

Industry Week said the December shipments will produce a record fourth-quarter of 24 million to 24.5 million net tons and continue into the first two quarters of 1973 when steel shipments and consumption are expected to reach new highs.

The magazine predicted that consumption could reach 110 million net tons and shipments 100 million tons in 1973. Consumption this year will approach 105 million tons and shipments 92 million tons.

Battery Stolen From Police Car

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Crime statistics for the first seven days of December may be down 32 per cent in Cleveland, but two patrolmen are looking today for the thief who stole the battery from their police car.

Patrolmen Thomas Planinc and Jerome Oberstar, members of the accident investigation unit, reported to work Sunday morning and walked out to their car which was parked behind the traffic bureau of the Central Police Station.

When the car didn't start, the two men looked under the hood and found the battery gone.

The record of U.S. mill shipments in one year was the 95 million tons in 1969. The business weekly estimated raw steel production at 2,725,000 net tons for the week ended Dec. 9. The magazine's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting steelmaking scrap jumped to $42.17 per gross ton - its highest level since Oct. 1970 and nearly $3 higher than the price a month ago.

Scotch On Rocks, Turnpike Ramp

BRISTOL, Pa. (AP) — They had scotch on the rocks at a ramp to the Pennsylvania Turnpike near this, Bucks County community Thursday. They also had scotch on the grass and mud at the bottom of a 12-foot embankment.

A tractor-trailer tipped over and spilled 1,000 cases of scotch, rye and brandy worth $25,000.

"It smelled like New Year's Eve," said State Trooper Denton McLaughlin who investigated.

A Page Of Opinion

Speedier Money Velocity

Predictions, some of which seemed on the wild side, that the world was rapidly approaching the dawn of a cashless society, which alternated with visions of a checkless ditto, seem to have died or slowed down.

There was no alternative to a checkless state, it was frequently contended, because otherwise the economy would soon grind to a halt under a mountain of checks. Exponents of a cashless state pictured a utopian existence in which a buyer simply nodded to the cashier and his bank automatically took care of everything.

Why both of these innovations—with computer connections, of course—haven't made their appearance isn't clear, unless it is because not everybody has gone quite crazy.

But if the cashless society and the checkless utopian state are not to be, after all, why not an improvement on credit cards? These could all be merged into one master electronic signal key, which when waved at a cashier or whatever would record the transaction on a giant computer by remote video or something equally mysterious.

Inflation Is Prevalent

There was a time when economists who advocated a certain amount of inflation as good for the economy were looked upon as irrational. Whatever the justification for the theory, most of the nations of the world today are practicing it.

This is not always by design, or at least in some instances official policy still tries to promote stable prices. Not successfully, more often than not. The inflation rate in Europe today is around six percent, double the average for the last 15 to 20 years. In the United States the rate is somewhere between the two.

Inflation psychology is now so much of the fabric of the economic systems that a number of automatic adjustments have been built into the mechanisms to accommodate each new wave of inflation. Some wage contracts and Social Security payments are geared to increases in the cost of living.

Manufacturers who have been experiencing rising costs of materials anticipate further rises in the future and attempt to price new products accordingly. It all adds up to a continuous cycle.

The nation which disciplines itself into relative stability in the face of continuous inflation elsewhere should have little trouble marketing its products.

A Pay-Off To Meany?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

One of George McGovern's more outlandish October predictions was that Richard Nixon would come out for a national Right to Work law if the Republicans won the election. I thought the prophecy was wildly misplaced, and said so at the time. Nixon was then courting AFL-CIO President George Meany's "Neutrality." With the appointment of hard hat Peter Brennan, the head of the New York State Building and Construction Trades Councils, as Secretary of Labor, Nixon has definitely made a grateful gesture toward Mr. Meany. AND THE PROSPECTS ARE THAT THE President has not finished in his campaign to make good Republicans of the more prosperous union members from here on in.

The "Philadelphia Plan" for forcing black quotas on construction unions employed on Federally financed projects will hardly get more than lip-service from Secretary Brennan, who merely went through the motions of expanding black employment in New York. But George Meany can now hope to get much more out of Nixon in return for future union support.

Specifically, Meany has had his eye on farm workers for a long time. In 1970 he said: As you know, the National Labor Relations Act does not cover agricultural workers, and we're trying to see that they are covered... if we can achieve that, and I'm hopeful we can within a reasonable time, this will certainly make the organizing efforts much more productive."

By a curious coincidence the conservative American Farm Bureau Federation proposes to help George Meany get his way in organizing farm workers. Prior to 1971 the Farm Bureau opposed compulsory farm unionization in any form. But in 1971 the Farm Bureau, in response to what it considered the brutal organizing tactics of Cesar Chavez, made an abrupt switch. It offered to condone the compulsory unionization of farm labor in non-Right-to-Work states in return for a Federal ban on secondary boycotts and strikes during harvest time.

Meeting this week in Los Angeles, the Farm Bureau will be presenting its proposed farm labor bill for the inspection of its delegates. A superficial case can be made out for giving George Meany what he wants. Under the terms of the National Labor Relations Act, no farm employer would be forced to deal with an AFL-CIO union unless there happened to be evidence that a majority of the workers wanted it that way. Compared to Cesar Chavez's method of dragooning workers into his vineyard workers' union without benefit of a majority vote, the Meany approach is far more democratic. Moreover, Meany's possible concession on the secondary boycott and harvest-time strikes would do much to reassure farmers that Chavez's disruption of the supermarkets in the matter of grape and lettuce sales would not be repeated.

Ironically, the Farm Bureau, in its zeal to beat Cesar Chavez, is about to welcome a plan that has kept U.S. insulinity in turmoil since the Thirties. Once a "majority" has sanctioned the presence of a specific union in an industry, minorities have little chance of ever becoming a new majority "Democracy" becomes a mere catchword, and the occasional dissident gets short shrift.

Where the dues check-off prevails, the individual worker cannot express his dissatisfaction with union leadership. His money can be used against him politically, and if he tries to get out of a compulsory union shop arrangement he will be fired.

In agriculture, compulsory unionism would eventually bring the hiring hall into general use. True enough, farm employers could recommend certain prospective employees to the union organizers. But if the organizers didn't like the cut of a man's jib, what chance would he have of getting or keeping a job?

If the Farm Bureau capitulates this week, Congress will surely give George Meany what he wants. Richard Nixon would hardly veto anything that Meany can get on Capitol Hill.

Ohio Hunters Take Record Deer Number

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio hunters, as of Friday, had killed a record number 4,803 deer this year, according to a tally by the Department of Natural Resources.

Wildlife Chief Dan C. Armbruster said that his department expects a total deer harvest of more than 5,000 when the longbow season ends Jan. 6. He said the previous harvest record was 4,784 in 1957.

"Patient must have forgotten his checkbook."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Would you please discuss "osteoporosis"? I have been disturbed since I found out that I have it, and do not understand how it will affect me in my future life.

Mrs. L. K., Conn.

Dear Mrs. K.:

It is strange how certain words keep cropping up in letters from my readers. The questions evidence anxiety which seems so distressing.

When one leaves a doctor's office without fully understanding the diagnosis, the name of a condition, the treatment, and the reason for that treatment, then the vital communication between doctor and patient is lost.

Osteoporosis simply means a decrease in the mineral and protein content of the bone. It has come into greater discussion since it was found that women in the menopause and post-menopause period tend to have less calcium in their bones.

Use of estrogen, or female sex hormone, before and during the menopause, may reduce osteoporosis. Though this concept is a controversial one, there seems to be a greater tendency to the use of estrogen than formerly. Each doctor evaluates each case individually.

Other very complicated hormonal disorders can also produce this condition. After the cause is found, active treatment with cortisone, ACTH, and high doses of calcium are used.

I want to repeat that patients who do not completely understand their total medical condition should not hesitate to question their doctor until they are satisfied they understand every aspect of this condition.

I have for years developed pulpitis of my teeth, even though I am most thorough about cleanliness.

Can this be a hereditary condition?

Miss A. L., Ore.

Dear Miss L.:

The pulp of a tooth is the very inside of it. Inflammation, or infection, is "pulpitis."

There is no hereditary predisposition to this condition.

Injury due to a bad bite, grinding of the teeth, excessive heat or cold, and infection are the most frequent causes.

The pain is usually sharp, shooting, and throbbing, and may be referred to all other parts of the mouth.

Many slight variations of pulpitis involve not only the pulp chamber, but the surrounding dentine and soft tissues that surround the teeth.

X-ray examination and pulp testing establish the diagnosis. Then, even more active hygiene, along with antibiotics, are used.

Correction of poor bite (relationship between upper and lower teeth) must be made. Emotional tensions that reflect themselves in grinding of the teeth must also be eliminated.

Vaccination against the flu is suggested for the elderly, the infirm and those with chronic debilitating illnesses.

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Anderson is tall and handsome, looks like a rising young life insurance salesman, and shakes hands with a grip so firm you figure he must spend his spare time cracking walnuts between his fingers.

But at 35, having overcome the handicap of a college education, Bill is one of the nation's top ten country music stars and author of more than 500 songs.

Contrary to tradition, he wasn't born in a hollow in the hills with a guitar in his hands. Search through his neatly cut hair and you'll find nary a hayseed in it. Bill is no more of a yokel than any other businessman who grosses more than $1 million a year.

Anderson and his six-man group, "The Po' Boys," will travel some 100,000 miles in a specially designed bus this year and give nearly 200 concerts. They also have a weekly television program, "The Bill Anderson Show," which is syndicated to more than 120 stations.

Bill, South Carolina-born, worked as a disc jockey and a sports stringer for the Atlanta Constitution while getting a degree in journalism at the University of Georgia.

Journalism's loss became country music's gain when Bill began beating around the country in an ancient car, earning $50 a night with his friend, Roger Miller, when they worked. Now his group gets up to $5,500 a concert.

His future life began to form for Bill when he was 13 and a neighbor down the street showed him how to plunk out a few basic chords on an old guitar. Bill took it from there.

"I can't read music, but I can write it," he said. "I feel music very deeply. I don't know whether that means I have an ear for it or not."

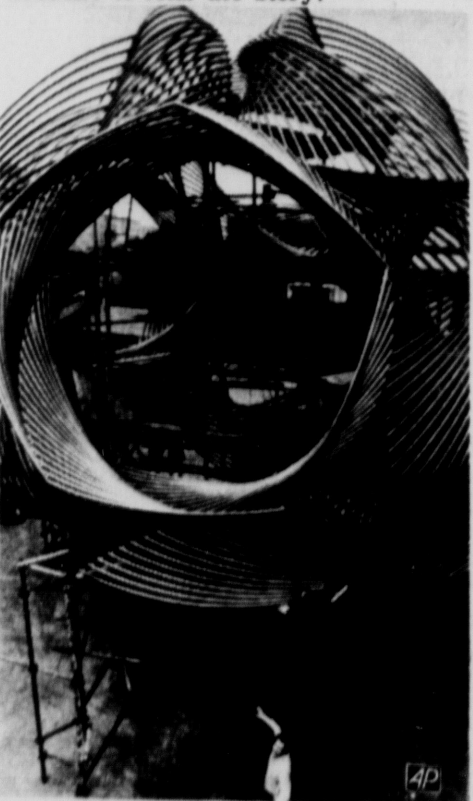

"I never had any formal music education. I did take a course in music appreciation in college, but I flunked it. They didn't appreciate my music, and I didn't appreciate theirs."

But at 19 Anderson wrote a song called "City Lights" which still brings in money. Among his other hits have been "Where Have All Our Heroes Gone," "Still," "Five Little Fingers," and, most recently, "Don't She Look Good," a present favorite.

Bill said that a really smash song can earn from $30,000 to $100,000 or more during its lifetime.

"Next year I'm going to give fewer concerts because they cut down on my song writing time," he said. "I usually start with an idea or phrase and get the melody later. They say that the lyric is 90 per cent of a country music song because it tells the story."

Speedier Money Velocity

Predictions, some of which seemed on the wild side, that the world was rapidly approaching the dawn of a cashless society, which alternated with visions of a checkless ditto, seem to have died or slowed down.

There was no alternative to a checkless state, it was frequently contended, because otherwise the economy would soon grind to a halt under a mountain of checks. Exponents of a cashless state pictured a utopian existence in which a buyer simply nodded to the cashier and his bank automatically took care of everything.

Why both of these innovations—with computer connections, of course—haven't made their appearance isn't clear, unless it is because not everybody has gone quite crazy.

But if the cashless society and the checkless utopian state are not to be, after all, why not an improvement on credit cards? SO WHEN IT'S TIME TO NAME A NEW DEPARTMENT HEAD... WHO GETS IT?

Santa and the ICE KING

by Lucrece Beale

SYNOPSIS: Heading across the frozen sea to ask Santa to help talk the Ice King into ending the continuous winter, Oonik and Keotuk are caught in a fierce storm. The storm collapsed the snow cave where Oonik was sleeping and he awoke to find himself sliding down a piece of ice.

CHAPTER FOUR

KEOTUK HURTS HIS PAW

Down, down, down Oonik slid on the huge slab of ice upended by the storm. Ahead of him was the black churning sea. Oonik threw himself back and dug in his heels but he could not stop sliding.

Just as he was about to zoom into the water there was a terrible screech and the ice slab suddenly reversed itself like a see saw and Oonik began rocketing back in the other direction.

With a whoosh he shot off the far end and landed head first in a snow drift. There he rolled himself up into a tight little ball and lay trembling with teeth chattering and hands over his ears.

But even the Ice King seemed to have enough. The wind died down and the ice no longer groaned and creaked.

Oonik crawled out of the snow drift. Blinking, he stared at the world. It was peaceful and quiet. Great piles of ice blocks lay about like forgotten toys. Where there had been open water there was now a solid ridge of ice.

There was no sign of Keotuk or the sled.

"Keotuk!" called Oonik. "Keotuk, come!"

Oonik wrapped the pieces of skin around Keotuk's paws.

He ran from ridge to ridge, calling and clapping his hands. Suddenly he saw a snowdrift rise up from the ice. The drift heaved and shook itself and there was Keotuk stepping sleepily out. Covered by the drift he had been safe and warm as the storm died out.

"Oh, Keotuk!" cried Oonik embracing the dog. "I knew you would be all right! But where is the sled?"

Alas it was gone. Together with Oonik's spear and the remainder of his food, the sled was buried beneath the ice, or perhaps, at the bottom of the sea.

Oonik stared at the mountains on the distant shore. There nestled in those mountains, was Santa Land.

"We can make it," Oonik told himself bravely. "Come, Keotuk, it isn't too far. We're almost there."

Together they started off. Trudging slowly, Oonik often slipped and fell. Keotuk stayed at his side and when they came to an ice hill Keotuk caught Oonik's parka in his teeth and helped drag him up and over.

On and on they went in the never ending daylight and little by little the snow covered mountains grew closer. Then, when it seemed they were almost there Keotuk suddenly lay down.

"Come on," begged Oonik. "We can't rest now. We'll starve if we don't get there soon."

But Keotuk only whimpered softly. Oonik needled down and rubbed his hands through Keotuk's fur. "What is it?" he murmured gently.

Keotuk whimpered again and held up one of his front paws. Oonik grabbed with dismay. The paw was cut and torn by icy splinters.

Oonik picked out the splinters. "Oh, Keotuk, if only you had shoes!" he moaned. Then he had an idea. "I will make you some shoes!"

With his knife he cut four strips of seal skin from his own coat. He wrapped the pieces of skin around Keotuk's paws and tied them with lacing from his own hood.

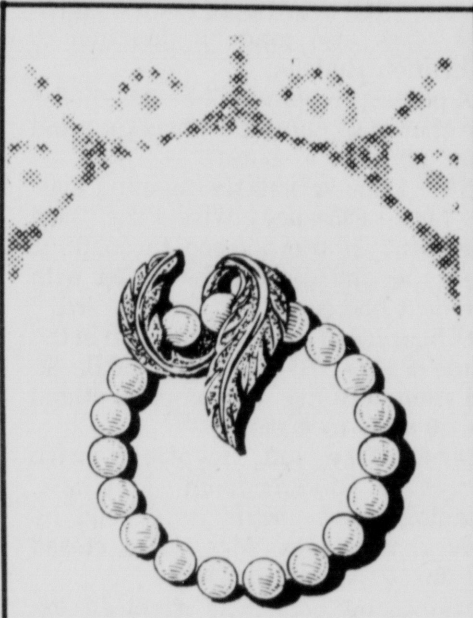

"There," he said. "Ice splinters can't hurt you now."

Keotuk rose uncertainly to his feet. At first he limped but the soft skin shoe actually made his bruised paw feel better and after a while he was able to walk quite well.

On they trudged until at last they came to the shore and Oonik saw smoke curling up from behind the hills. Everything will be all right now," cried Oonik starting to run. "For that is surely smoke from Santa's very own chimney!"

IRS Chief Blasts Judges

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service said here he believes that federal judges are "eroding" the tax and judicial systems by imposing inadequate and uneven sentences on tax evaders.

Johnnie McKeiver Walters told a news conference here Friday there was wide variance in punishments between the federal district courts.

"Sentencing is entirely the responsibility of the court," he said. "But if the judges asks us, we always recommend there should be some kind of prison sentence."

Walters gave several examples of what he called disparity in sentencing. He said less than 20 per cent of those convicted in the Southern District of Ohio, which includes Cincinnati, go to prison. None go to prison in Iowa and no one has been sentenced to jail in South Dakota in 25 years, he said.

Walters said more than 75 per cent of those pleading guilty or no contest in the last six years in Tennessee have been sent to prisons, while 85 per cent were jailed in the western district of Washington and 50 per cent in Indiana.

Walters said judges who go low in imposing prison sentences "are contributing to the erosion of both the tax system and the judicial system."

Santa and the ICE KING

by Lucrece Beale

SYNOPSIS: Heading across the frozen sea to ask Santa to help talk the Ice King into ending the continuous winter, Oonik and Keotuk are caught in a fierce storm. The storm collapsed the snow cave where Oonik was sleeping and he awoke to find himself sliding down a piece of ice.

CHAPTER FOUR

KEOTUK HURTS HIS PAW
Down, down, down Oonik slid on the huge slab of ice upended by the storm. Ahead of him was the black churning sea. Oonik threw himself back and dug in his heels but he could not stop sliding.

Just as he was about to zoom into the water there was a terrible screech and the ice slab suddenly reversed itself like a see saw and Oonik began rocketing back in the other direction.

With a whoosh he shot off the far end and landed head first in a snow drift. There he rolled himself up into a tight little ball and lay trembling with teeth chattering and hands over his ears.

But even the Ice King seemed to have enough. The wind died down and the ice no longer groaned and creaked.

Oonik crawled out of the snow drift. Blinking, he stared at the world. It was peaceful and quiet. Great piles of ice blocks lay about like forgotten toys. Where there had been open water there was now a solid ridge of ice.

There was no sign of Keotuk or the sled.

"Keotuk!" called Oonik. "Keotuk, come!"

Oonik wrapped the pieces of skin around Keotuk's paws.

He ran from ridge to ridge, calling and clapping his hands. Suddenly he saw a snowdrift rise up from the ice. The drift heaved and shook itself and there was Keotuk stepping sleepily out. Covered by the drift he had been safe and warm as the storm died out.

"Oh, Keotuk!" cried Oonik embracing the dog. "I knew you would be all right! But where is the sled?"

Alas it was gone. Together with Oonik's spear and the remainder of his food, the sled was buried beneath the ice, or perhaps, at the bottom of the sea.

Oonik stared at the mountains on the distant shore. There nestled in those mountains, was Santa Land.

"We can make it," Oonik told himself bravely. "Come, Keotuk, it isn't too far. We're almost there."

Together they started off. Trudging slowly, Oonik often slipped and fell. Keotuk stayed at his side and when they came to an ice hill Keotuk caught Oonik's parka in his teeth and helped drag him up and over.

On and on they went in the never ending daylight and little by little the snow covered mountains grew closer. Then, when it seemed they were almost there Keotuk suddenly lay down.

"Come on," begged Oonik. "We can't rest now. We'll starve if we don't get there soon."

But Keotuk only whimpered softly. Oonik needled down and rubbed his hands through Keotuk's fur. "What is it?" he murmured gently.

Keotuk whimpered again and held up one of his front paws. Oonik grabbed with dismay. The paw was cut and torn by icy splinters.

Oonik picked out the splinters. "Oh, Keotuk, if only you had shoes!" he moaned. Then he had an idea. "I will make you some shoes!"

With his knife he cut four strips of seal skin from his own coat. He wrapped the pieces of skin around Keotuk's paws and tied them with lacing from his own hood.

Keotuk rose uncertainly to his feet. At first he limped but the soft skin shoe actually made his bruised paw feel better and after a while he was able to walk quite well.

On they trudged until at last they came to the shore and Oonik saw smoke curling up from behind the hills.

Everything will be all right now," cried Oonik starting to run. "For that is surely smoke from Santa's very own chimney!"

KATHY MCPHERSON

MRS. DIANE LYTLE

Three Are Chosen As Seniors Of Week

By NANCY STOUT and SHARON REED

Kathy McPherson, 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. McPherson, and lives at Route 1, Amanda.

Kathy is enrolled in the college prep courses and lists home economics as her favorite subject. Her hobbies include sewing, reading, being around people, and talking. Other likes include mushrooms and shrimp, the color pink, and Mark Spitz. Her dislikes are people who think they are really "It," Mondays, rainy days, and boring weekends.

Kathy is active in GAA, FTA, FHA, Drama Club, and choir.

After graduation, Kathy plans to attend Southern Ohio College. Her comment on graduation is, "It will be sad because I will miss all my friends, but I'm happy I've finally made it!"

Jay Derr, 17, is the son of Mrs. Dolores Derr, and lives at Route 1, Ashville.

Jay is enrolled in the college prep courses and lists study halls as his favorite class. He is president of the FFA.

His hobbies are all sports and motorcycles. His likes are pizza, the color blue, and Diane.

Welcome New Junior

CHRIS HANSEN

By ESTILL SALYERS

Chris Hansen is a new junior at TVHS. She lives with her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hansen, at their Route 1, Ashville, home.

Chris attended Jackson Township Elementary School and then Westfall High School before coming to Teays Valley.

Some of her favorites are reading, listening to good music, blue, pizza, history, boys, and The Raspberries. She dislikes snobby people, boring classes, and being alone.

Chris is in no activities at TVHS as yet, but she plans to join the girls' track team.

When asked how she liked TVHS she commented, "It took a while to get used to it, but I like it better now than I did at first."

We welcome Chris to the student body, and we hope that she will continue to like Teays Valley better and better!

Winter temperatures in Antarctica can drop as low as 127 degrees below zero Fahrenheit.

Former TV Teacher Returns

By PAM HANNAH and MINDAY LAWLESS

Mrs. Diane Lytle returned to Teays Valley this year to teach sophomore and junior English.

Mrs. Lytle taught at Teays Valley two years ago. She left because her husband was in the Air Force and was transferred to the Homestead Air Force Base in Florida. When asked why she chose to return to TV, her reply was, "I like the hours and the teaching conditions."

Mrs. Lytle says she likes this teaching year better than when she taught here before. The reason is that she does not have study halls to cope with. She feels that study halls are a waste of time for both students and teachers.

When Mrs. Lytle was asked how she felt about the activities at TV, she said she felt there was good variety but that more teachers should get involved. Mrs. Lytle thinks the students and teachers have a good relationship and feels it is necessary in schools.

She enjoys reading and knitting as soft, easy types of activity. She likes music (soft rock) very much.

We at Teays Valley welcome Mrs. Diane Lytle back to TV's staff.

Class Views Religions

By SHARON REED

Sociology classes have been studying the major religions of the world today. Their study was based on a sociology unit, Religion, A Universal Need for Man.

The classes completed a study of the major religions of the world by doing research papers and oral reports on beliefs, creeds, rituals, etc. Students were interested in learning the important place that religion plays or should play in their social relationships.

The classes had Rabbi Kiner from the Temple Israel in Columbus, Father Shonebarger, Educational Director of Priests at Josephinum College in Columbus; and Pastor Roy Osborn from the Calvary United Methodist Church in Circleville as speakers. These men came to sociology classes to speak about their religions and the many different ways in which their religions are taught.

Mrs. Dorothy Beavers is the sociology teacher.

Green Bay Takes Central Division Grid Title

The Pack is back—mainly back in the playoffs. San Francisco is back in first place. Pittsburgh is back, a game ahead of Cleveland. And Miami ... well, the Dolphins are where they've been all National Football League season.

Bengals Mistakes Give Browns Win

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mike Reid, an intellectual in shoulder pads, sat in the Cincinnati Bengals dressing room and informed the press that, indeed, better days were ahead for his team.

"Gentlemen," he said in a professional tone minutes after the Bengals dropped a tough 27-24 decision to the Cleveland Browns Saturday, "the thing we have going for us is that if we stay in this league long enough we will have exhausted all the ways there are to lose a football game.

"Let's see," he said, pausing to unroll a knot of tape from his arm, "what is that principle? ... If things can go wrong they will?"

Reid spoke of momentum and pride and such things as a holding penalty called on Cincinnati's Stan Walters during a play in which the Bengals scored what appeared to be the tying touchdown just before halftime.

"Now gentlemen, this play on the goal line ... by God, this is professional football, not college or high school," Reid said, warming to his attentive audience.

"We deserve the championship, Green Bay Coach Dan Devine said after his Packers had gotten just that—the championship of the National Conference Central Division, their first title since 1967 when they were in the Vince Lombardi era.

"If they want to call all this stuff literally," Reid said, "you're going to have the yellow no-no ... a penalty flag ... on every play.

"This was not a purposeful thing," he said of the call against Walters, "but it was very detrimental to us.

"But that was not the major thing," Reid added. "They, the Browns, had a good football team."

The holding call on Walters had forced the Bengals to settle for a field goal and a 14-10 deficit at the half, but other mistakes were equally telling.

Of five Cleveland scores, four came after Bengal miscues ranging from fumbles to interceptions to an unsuccessful attempt by punter Dave Lewis to run instead of kick.

"It was a matter of mistakes and capitalizing on them," admitted Cleveland coach Nick Skorich, who saw his team move to a 9-4 record and within one step of the National Football League playoffs, a final step they'll take if the New York Jets lose to Oakland tonight, or if the Browns tie or defeat the Jets next Sunday.

They literally brutalized Minnesota in the second half Sunday, holding the Vikings to a mere five offensive plays and turning a 7-0 deficit into a 23-7 crunching spearhead by running backs John Brockington and MacArthur Lane and rookie defensive back Willie Buchanan.

Brockington became the league's first player to rush for 1,000 yards in each of his first two seasons as he churned up 113 yards against the Vikes. And Lane added 99 yards, setting up the first of three Chester Marcol field goals with a 37-yard dash and scoring later from three yards out.

Buchanan took charge in the third period, first intercepting a Fran Tarkenton pass and running it back 25 yards to set up Lane's score, then throttling a Minnesota drive by picking off another pass at the Green Bay 18 on the last play of the period.

In Sunday's other action, San Francisco silenced Atlanta 20-0, Pittsburgh slipped past Houston 9-3, Miami downed the New York Giants 23-13, St. Louis upset Los Angeles 24-14, Detroit tied Buffalo 21-21, Kansas City beat Baltimore 24-10, Denver shellacked San Diego 38-13, New England defeated New Orleans 17-10 and Chicago topped Philadelphia 21-12. On Saturday, Cleveland edged Cincinnati 27-24 and Dallas turned back Washington 34-24. Tonight, the New York Jets face the Raiders in Oakland.

The 49ers made a pair of Bruce Gossett field goals stand up for three periods, then broke things open against Atlanta with a pair of Ken Willard touchdown plunges as they moved half a game ahead of the Falcons.

"We already knew what we had to do," San Francisco Coach Dick Nolan said as his team faced playoff elimination. Then, looking ahead to a final game against Minnesota, one which the 49ers must win to assure themselves of the NFC West title, he added: "We've been in this position the last two years."

Roy Gerela kicked the Steelers into the NFL playoffs for the first time in their history with field goals of 24, 39 and 13 yards against the Oilers, the only real offense Pittsburgh had because of the loss, due to a dislocated finger, of quarterback Terry Bradshaw.

New Faces Are Headliners In '73 College Basketball

Some of the "New Faces of 1973" may be big headliners in college basketball by the time the season ends in March.

To name a few there's Alvin Adams of Oklahoma, Campy Russell of Michigan, Kip McLane of Duquesne, John Garrett of Purdue, Larry Fogle of Southwestern Louisiana and James "The Fly" Williams of Austin Peay. Adams, a 6-foot-9 freshman, paced the unbeaten Sooners to their sixth straight triumph with 18 points in a 61-58 squeaker over UNC-Charlotte Saturday night.

The 6-7 Russell led Michigan over Dayton 81-78 with 25 points while McLane helped Duquesne whip Jacksonville 82-73 with 12 points and 13 rebounds in the final of the Steel Bowl.

Garrett, 6-11, scored 21 points and pulled down 11 rebounds as the Boilermakers routed Texas Christian 101-70. Fogle, a frosh, hit on 16 of 18 shots from the field in the two games as the Ragin' Cajuns beat St. Joseph's of Philadelphia and Marshall to win the Bayou Classic.

Williams, another frosh who is expected to make Austin Peay a power in the Ohio Valley Conference, scored 42 points and snared 15 rebounds in leading the Govs over Pan American 107-80.

Other new faces include David Vaughn of Oral Roberts, Moose Leonard of Furman, Phil Sellers of Rutgers, Bill Campion of Manhattan, Jerrell Fort of Nebraska, Bruce McCauley of Wisconsin, Rich Knarr of Mississippi State, John Laskowski of Indiana, Charlie Neal of Oregon State, Billy Taylor of LaSalle and Donald Washington of North Carolina.

Vanderbilt, like Oklahoma unranked in the Associated Press poll, upped its record to 5-0 by drubbing Western Kentucky 103-88 in the final of the Vanderbilt Classic.

California won the Mountaineer Classic by beating West Virginia 63-51, San Francisco downed Duke 72-68 in the Cable Car Classic Long Beach crushed Puget Sound 102-70 in the Daffodil Classic and Hardin Simmons took the Cowboy Classic by 59-56 over Idaho State.

There are more holiday tournaments this weekend, including the Jayhawk Classic, the Trojan Classic, the UK Invitational, the Volunteer Classic and the Ute Classic.

And on Saturday national champion UCLA goes after its 49th straight victory against UC-Santa Barbara. The country's No. 1 college team didn't play last week.

SPORTS

10 The Circleville Herald, Monday December 11, 1972

Tiger Matmen Open With Loss

The Circleville High School wrestling squad opened its season on a sour note Saturday, the varsity losing 42-16 and the reserves 60-6 at Reynoldsburg.

In the varsity match, the only winners were Steve Watters, who decided Dave King 12-2 in the 112-pound class, Dave Webb, who won by default over Bill Barrett in the first period of the 132-pound class and Tom Frericks, who pinned Rick Wagner in 1:28 of the first period of the heavyweight class.

"I thought Ben McDaniels, Webb, Watters, Don Seyfang, Gary Mogan, Stuart Moore, Joe Smith and Frericks looked pretty good for the little practice we've had," coach Brent Bell reported. "We know now where we are weak and what we have to accomplish to become champions. I think we will continue to improve as the season progresses and we get more experience."

Reynoldsburg was second in the class AAA district last year and appears to be stronger this year.

Results of the varsity matches lost by Circleville were: Ben McDaniel decided by Mark Kovach 6-4 in 105-pound class; Joe Smith decided by Dan Few 6-1 in the 119-pound class; Don Seyfang decided by Ron Nole 8-4 in the 126-pound class; Jim Payne decided by Dan Nole, 10-5 in the 138-pound class; Roger Davis pinned by Marvin Henderson in the 145-pound class; Rick Sampill pinned by Sam Fluck; Gary Morgan decided by Dave Wickline 6-3 in the 167-pound class; Stuart Moore decided by Steve Nole 5-0 in the 175-pound class; Dave Bond pinned by Paul Wade in the 185-pound class.

The inexperience and lack of practice really hurt the little Tigers. Four of them were pinned while they were ahead in their matches, Bell reported. "Little mistakes really killed them," he said.

Pirates Lead NL In Batting

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, in winning baseball's National League East Division last season, led the league in hits, total bases, doubles and triples, and had four of the circuit's top 15 hitters — more than any other team.

Official batting records released over the weekend showed the Pirates, who lost to Western Division winner Cincinnati three games to two in the playoffs, had a team batting average of .274, compared with runnerup St. Louis' .260, and collected 1,505 hits to the Cards' 1,383.

Houston's 2,070 total bases were second to the Pirates' 2,180, but the Astros led in runs batted in with 660 to Pittsburgh's 654.

Pittsburgh players in the top 15 were Al Oliver, whose .312 average ranked him sixth; Richie Hebner .300; Manny Sanguillen, .298, and Willie Stargell, .293. Stargell was third in runs batted in with 112 and fifth in home runs with 33.

Outfielder Billy Williams' .333 average brought the Chicago Cubs their first individual league batting championship since Phil Cavarretta hit

.355 in 1945. Williams also led in total bases with 348 and was third in home runs with 37.

Johnny Bench of Cincinnati was the home run leader with 40, two more than San Diego's Nate Colbert, and also was tops in RBI with 125 to Williams' 122.

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Purdue University began a serious search today for a football coach to succeed Bob DeMoss, who resigned last week and was named assistant athletic director.

Bowl Game Countdown Under Way

The countdown to the bowl games—and with them college football's national championship—is under way.

The regular season came to a close Saturday with one last game as 16th-ranked North Carolina turned back stubborn Florida 28-24 thanks to a late touchdown—Sammy Johnson's third of the game—and an even later call with just 13 seconds left that nullified an apparent Florida scoring pass and ruled it an incompletion.

Elsewhere, the four NCAA College Division regional titles went to Louisiana Tech, Massachusetts, Tennessee State and North Dakota while East Texas State won the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics crown.

The first of the 11 major bowl games takes place one week from tonight when Iowa State meets Georgia Tech in the Liberty Bowl. The successor to Nebraska as national champion, though, should come from either the New Year's Eve Sugar Bowl between second-ranked Oklahoma and fifth-ranked Penn State, or the New Year's Day Rose Bowl between No. 1 Southern California and No. 3 Ohio State.

Fourth-ranked Alabama, which meets No. 7 Texas in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1, and sixth-ranked Auburn, which faces No. 13 Colorado in the Gator Bowl Dec. 30, are long-shots.

The other major games find Arizona

Bengals Mistakes Give Browns Win

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mike Reid, an intellectual in shoulder pads, sat in the Cincinnati Bengals dressing room and informed the press that, indeed, better days were ahead for his team.

"Gentlemen," he said in a professional tone minutes after the Bengals dropped a tough 27-24 decision to the Cleveland Browns Saturday, "the thing we have going for us is that if we stay in this league long enough we will have exhausted all the ways there are to lose a football game."

"Let's see," he said, pausing to unroll a knot of tape from his arm, "what is that principle? ... If things can go wrong they will?"

Reid spoke of momentum and pride and such things as a holding penalty called on Cincinnati's Stan Walters during a play in which the Bengals scored what appeared to be the tying touchdown just before haltime.

"Now gentlemen, this play on the goal line ... by God, this is professional football, not college or high school," Reid said, warming to his attentive audience.

"We deserve the championship," Green Bay Coach Dan Devine said after his Packers had gotten just that—the championship of the National Conference Central Division, their first title since 1967 when they were in the Vince Lombardi era.

"If they want to call all this stuff literally," Reid said, "you're going to have the yellow no-no ... a penalty flag ... on every play."

"This was not a purposeful thing," he said of the call against Walters, "but it was very detrimental to us."

"But that was not the major thing," Reid added. "They, the Browns, had a good football team."

The holding call on Walters had forced the Bengals to settle for a field goal and a 14-10 deficit at the half, but other mistakes were equally telling.

Of five Cleveland scores, four came after Bengal miscues ranging from fumbles to interceptions to an unsuccessful attempt by punter Dave Lewis to run instead of kick.

"It was a matter of mistakes and capitalizing on them," admitted Cleveland coach Nick Skorich, who saw his team move to a 9-4 record and within one step of the National Football League playoffs, a final step they'll take if the New York Jets lose to Oakland tonight, or if the Browns tie or defeat the Jets next Sunday.

They literally brutalized Minnesota in the second half Sunday, holding the Vikings to a mere five offensive plays and turning a 7-0 deficit into a 23-7 crunching spearhead by running backs John Brockington and MacArthur Lane and rookie defensive back Willie Buchanan.

Brockington became the league's first player to rush for 1,000 yards in each of his first two seasons as he churned up 113 yards against the Vikes. And Lane added 99 yards, setting up the first of three Chester Marcol field goals with a 37-yard dash and scoring later from three yards out.

Buchanan took charge in the third period, first intercepting a Fran Tarkenton pass and running it back 25 yards to set up Lane's score, then throttling a Minnesota drive by picking off another pass at the Green Bay 18 on the last play of the period.

In Sunday's other action, San Francisco silenced Atlanta 20-0, Pittsburgh slipped past Houston 9-3, Miami downed the New York Giants 23-13, St. Louis upset Los Angeles 24-14, Detroit tied Buffalo 21-21, Kansas City beat Baltimore 24-10, Denver shellacked San Diego 38-13, New England defeated New Orleans 17-10 and Chicago topped Philadelphia 21-12. On Saturday, Cleveland edged Cincinnati 27-24 and Dallas turned back Washington 34-24. Tonight, the New York Jets face the Raiders in Oakland.

The 49ers made a pair of Bruce Gossett field goals stand up for three periods, then broke things open against Atlanta with a pair of Ken Willard touchdown plunges as they moved half a game ahead of the Falcons.

"We already knew what we had to do," San Francisco Coach Dick Nolan said as his team faced playoff

New Faces Are Headliners In '73 College Basketball

Some of the "New Faces of 1973" may be big headliners in college basketball by the time the season ends in March.

To name a few there's Alvin Adams of Oklahoma, Campy Russell of Michigan, Kip McLane of Duquesne, John Garrett of Purdue, Larry Fogle of Southwestern Louisiana and James "The Fly" Williams of Austin Peay.

Adams, a 6-foot-9 freshman, paced the unbeaten Sooners to their sixth straight triumph with 18 points in a 61-58 squeaker over UNC-Charlotte Saturday night.

The 6-7 Russell led Michigan over Dayton 81-78 with 25 points while McLane helped Duquesne whip Jacksonville 82-73 with 12 points and 13 rebounds in the final of the Steel Bowl.

Garrett, 6-11, scored 21 points and pulled down 11 rebounds as the Boilermakers routed Texas Christian 101-70. Fogle, a frosh, hit on 16 of 18 shots from the field in the two games as the Ragin' Cajuns beat St. Joseph's of Philadelphia and Marshall to win the Bayou Classic.

Williams, another frosh who is expected to make Austin Peay a power in the Ohio Valley Conference, scored 42 points and snared 15 rebounds in leading the Gobs over Pan American 107-80.

Other new faces include David Vaughn of Oral Roberts, Moose Leonard of Furman, Phil Sellers of Rutgers, Bill Campion of Manhattan, Jerrell Fort of Nebraska, Bruce McCauley of Wisconsin, Rich Knarr of Mississippi State, John Laskowski of Indiana, Charlie Neal of Oregon State, Billy Taylor of LaSalle and Donald Washington of North Carolina.

Vanderbilt, like Oklahoma unranked in the Associated Press poll, upped its record to 5-0 by drubbing Western Kentucky 103-88 in the final of the Vanderbilt Classic.

California won the Mountaineer Classic by beating West Virginia 63-51, San Francisco downed Duke 72-68 in the Cable Car Classic Long Beach crushed Puget Sound 102-70 in the Daffodil Classic and Hardin Simmons took the Cowboy Classic by 59-56 over Idaho State.

There are more holiday tournaments this weekend, including the Jayhawk Classic, the Trojan Classic, the UK Invitational, the Volunteer Classic and the Ute Classic.

And on Saturday national champion UCLA goes after its 49th straight victory against UC-Santa Barbara. The country's No. 1 college team didn't play last week.

Tiger Matmen Open With Loss

The Circleville High School wrestling squad opened its season on a sour note Saturday, the varsity losing 42-16 and the reserves 60-6 at Reynoldsburg.

In the varsity match, the only winners were Steve Watters, who decisioned Dave King 12-2 in the 112-pound class, Dave Webb, who won by default over Bill Barrett in the first period of the 132-pound class and Tom Frericks, who pinned Rick Wagner in 1:28 in the first period of the heavyweight class.

"I thought Ben McDaniels, Webb, Watters, Don Seyfang, Gary Mogan, Stuart Moore, Joe Smith and Frericks looked pretty good for the little practice we've had," coach Brent Bell reported. "We know now where we are weak and what we have to accomplish to become champions. I think we will continue to improve as the season progresses and we get more experience."

Reynoldsburg was second in the class AAA district last year and appears to be stronger this year.

Results of the varsity matches lost by Circleville were: Ben McDaniel decisioned by Mark Kovach 6-4 in 105-pound class; Joe Smith decisioned by Dan Few 6-1 in the 119-pound class; Don Seyfang decisioned by Ron Nole 8-4 in the 125-pound class; Jim Payne decisioned by Dan Nole, 10-5 in the 138-pound class; Roger Davis pinned by Marvin Henderson in the 145-pound class; Rick Sampsill pinned by Sam Fluck; Gary Morgan decisioned by Dave Wickline 6-3 in the 167-pound class; Stuart Moore decisioned by Steve Nole 5-0 in the 175-pound class; Dave Bond pinned by Paul Wade in the 185-pound class.

The inexperience and lack of practice really hurt the little Tigers. Four of them were pinned while they were ahead in their matches, Bell reported. "Little mistakes really killed them," he said.

Wins by CHS reserves were by Barry Marshall who decisioned Dan Marty 3-2 in the 112-pound class and by Bob Brandon who decisioned John Peck 8-4 in the 145-pound class. Losing matches were:

Dave LeMay to Mike Reeves by a pin (119); Tom Hamilton to Pat Reed by a pin (126); Rob Gans to Kevin Toney 5-4 (132); Herb Sturgell to Mark McCutcheon by a pin (138); Rance Wolfe to Mike Pfautsch by a pin (155); Bob Featherolf to Paul Holland by a pin (167); Tim Wilkinson to Dale Presley 6-7 (185); Scott Bowman to Bob Dozier by a pin (heavyweight).

The reserves wrestle at Groveport in a triangular meet that will include Teays Valley 5 p.m. Friday. The varsity wrestles in the Walnut Ridge Tournament Saturday.

The Westfall Mustangs did better, percentage-wise, from the field than from the free throw line in losing 79-59 to visiting Bishop Flaget Saturday night.

The Mustangs hit an impressive 51 per cent of their floor shots, 23 of 44, but could only connect on 13 of 30 free throw attempts for 41 per cent.

It was a close game until the final period. Bishop Flaget held a slim 20-16 first period lead and even slimmer 36-

33 halftime count. But they increased a 48-43 third period advantage to a 20-point margin in the final period.

The Mustangs had 27 turnovers as compared to 19 for Flaget.

Mike Paterson paced all scores with 25 points on nine field goals and 7 free throws. Jay Clark was the only other Mustang in double figures with nine field goals and a free throw for 19 points.

Joe Angles added six points, Mark Easterday had four, Jim Wright had three and Dave Shannon canned two.

Clark was the leading rebounder with nine, Peterson had seven and Easterday bagged five. The Mustangs had 26 rebounds.

Pat Rogers paced a balanced Flaget scoring attack with 22 points. Don Menefee had 14, Lee Menefee had 11, and Steve Chaney and Corker had 10 each.

The Mustangs also lost the reserve game 44-27.

Next game for Westfall will be at East Clinton Friday.

Quarterback Gives East Shrine Bowl

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Quarterbacking was the difference in the East's 20-7 All-Ohio Shrine football victory over the West, both head coaches agreed.

"Their quarterback (Ohio University's Dave Juenger) wasn't bonafide. Ours were," contended Toledo mentor Jack Murphy after directing the East to the inaugural triumph Saturday in Ohio Stadium.

"The big difference was their passing," West Coach Jack Fouts of Ohio Wesleyan agreed. "They had more quick receivers. We just didn't have the deep threat."

Youngstown State's Ron Jarowski and Ed Casey of Baldwin-Wallace riddled the West defense for 151 yards via the air.

Meanwhile, Juenger, who spent most of the season as a receiver before injuries pressed him into duty as the Bobcats' quarterback, misfired on his first six passes. He and backup quarterback Steve Williams of Miami managed just 2 of 14 completions for a meager 15 yards.

Toledo tailback Joe Schwartz ran 27 times, almost half of the East rushing plays, for 125 yards and the go-ahead touchdown with 12 minutes to play.

Murphy said Schwartz' heavy duty was by design. "In my eyes, he was the best running back on either side. I wish we had thrown more to him though," the winning mentor said.

Quarterback Gives East Shrine Bowl

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Quarterbacking was the difference in the East's 20-7 All-Ohio Shrine football victory over the West, both head coaches agreed.

"Their quarterback (Ohio University's Dave Juenger) wasn't bonafide. Ours were," contended Toledo mentor Jack Murphy after directing the East to the inaugural triumph Saturday in Ohio Stadium.

"The big difference was their passing," West Coach Jack Fouts of Ohio Wesleyan agreed. "They had more quick receivers. We just didn't have the deep threat."

Youngstown State's Ron Jarowski and Ed Casey of Baldwin-Wallace riddled the West defense for 151 yards via the air.

Meanwhile, Juenger, who spent most of the season as a receiver before injuries pressed him into duty as the Bobcats' quarterback, misfired on his first six passes. He and backup quarterback Steve Williams of Miami managed just 2 of 14 completions for a meager 15 yards.

Toledo tailback Joe Schwartz ran 27 times, almost half of the East rushing plays, for 125 yards and the go-ahead touchdown with 12 minutes to play.

Murphy said Schwartz' heavy duty was by design. "In my eyes, he was the best running back on either side. I wish we had thrown more to him though," the winning mentor said.

Kings Win, Cavs Lose In Cage Tilts

It was chilly in Kansas City and Cleveland but Nate Archibald and Rick Barry got hotter as Sunday evening wore on.

Archibald scored only four points in the first quarter but wound up with 41 to lead the Kansas City-Omaha Kings to a 130-115 National Basketball Association rout of the Atlanta Hawks.

Golden State's Barry went him four better—or, rather, four worse—scoring exactly zilch in the opening period and finishing with 36 as the Warriors shaded the Cleveland Cavaliers 103-100.

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: After a confusing start you have a good chance to set your overall aims to a truly workable expression. Get in touch with those who are aware of your interests and ask them for the information you need. Be sure to show appreciation.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are easily able to get together with a bigwig for the advice and backing you need. Know your facts and figures well before launching new project. Do more constructive thinking.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A person whose experience has been different from yours can give fine advice and help improve your personal aims. Get busy making progress with your congenial business associates. Pull together.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Find the best system for taking care of your career problems that have been giving you much trouble for some time. Giving special attention to mate can work wonders now. Show more kindness.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Give your associate information he needs at this time and you can both benefit nicely. Do whatever will gain you the favor of a higher-up in public life. Give praise to associates.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can get to work now and improve your financial status. Give a co-worker a break. It will be appreciated. Take the proper exercise and treatments to improve your health. Avoid any arguments.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Provided you stick to the inexpensive, you can have a delightful time during spare hours now, but apply yourself seriously to business during work hours. You can find your rightful niche in life.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Do whatever will make your home more charming and comfortable so that kin will be pleased. See to it that all appliances work perfectly. Household items should be immaculate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Join with some good friend and take a little trip either for pleasure or business that's important to you at this time. Take health treatments in the evening. Use care in travel.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Use the practical approach with those who live with you and get far better results. Try to understand the problems of others instead of becoming temperamental. Be observant.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you talk matters over with associates, you find that regular routines can be improved quickly after exchanging ideas. Making business appointments now is wise. Don't argue.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Instead of worrying so much about not having all the funds you need, get busy doing something constructive about the situation. Don't let anything keep you from progressing. Be alert.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Know what your personal aims are and how to attain them in the easiest and fastest way. Enjoying the company of good friends is wise. They can open many a door of opportunity to you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those young people who will take a negative outlook on life if you don't teach the importance of being positive. Direct the education along analytical lines and preferably in the field of government where abilities can be used for constructive purposes. A splendid worker here.

NEW YORK (AP) — There's a show on the Public Broadcasting System tonight that only can be described as a very good hour with a very distinguished man — former Chief Justice Earl Warren.

It's the first time the 81-year-old jurist ever has been interviewed at length on any television network. The program was taped last May at WGBH-TV in Boston, Mass.

The interviewer is Warren's close friend for 16 years, Dr. Abram Sachar, an historian and chancellor of Brandeis University. He persuaded Warren to do the program when the latter was in Boston to receive an award from the university.

The two-hour interview, edited to one hour for television, was conducted with one understanding: Warren wouldn't comment on the current rulings, direction or activity of the Supreme Court he headed for 16 judicially turbulent years.

The former Chief Justice, who retired from the court in 1969, appeared pale and slightly fatigued on the program. His voice had the raspiness of age. But his thoughts were clear and direct.

He said some surprising things. One was that he found it easier to take criticism while in politics than while on the court.

A politician, he said, "has the right to get on his own rostrum and tell his story and defend himself ... and he releases the tension that he has by so doing."

"But when you're on the Supreme Court, you can't do that. You can't explain everything you did, you can't temper the thing in any way. You just have to accept it without any answer of any kind."

Warren also discussed the chilling conditions under which he reluctantly agreed to head the presidential commission formed to investigate the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

He took on the job a few days after the assassination, but it took a face-to-face plea by President Lyndon B. Johnson to persuade him.

The Warren hour starts at 8 p.m. EST. You should watch it. It's a fine look at the man whose court was criticized as too activist and who summarized his position this way shortly before he retired:

"We go with the cases that come to us ... We either hear them and decide them or we let them go and sweep them under the rug ... for future generations."

A NIXON NOMINEE — Roy L. Ash, an industrialist, is President Nixon's choice to be head of the Office of Management and Budget. He's 54.

New Demo Party Chairman Strauss Has Work Cut Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert Strauss has taken on the posture and perils of a tightrope walker in his new job as national Democratic chairman with his pledge to "try to bring everybody back to this party."

In his campaign for the office which he won by a close vote Saturday at the Democratic National Committee's first postelection meeting, Strauss had the support of party conservatives and middle grounders, but he made a lot of promises to the liberal-reform wing along the way.

Now, he has to keep them all happy while trying to bring back the defectors who fled to neutrality or the Republican camp during the national election.

Strauss danced gingerly Sunday around questions on what party role will be open to such people as AFL-CIO President George Meany and Alabama

Canton city limits.

SUNDAY
MARTINS FERRY — Ronald E. Brown, 34, Bellaire, in a one-car crash on Ohio 7 at Fifth Street in Martins Ferry.

RAVENNA — Lilian Bertsch, 32, Rootstown, in a two-car accident on the Ohio 5 bypass near Sandy Lake Road in Ravenna.

DAYTON — Roy C. Partin, 34, of Dayton, in a one car accident on County Road 70 in Montgomery County.

Gov. George C. Wallace, who sat out the presidential campaign in pique over the nomination of Sen. George McGovern, or to John B. Connally who campaigned for President Nixon.

"I'm not going to start prejudging anybody right now," Strauss said on CBS's "Face the Nation."

"The first thing I ought to try to do is create a climate where all these factions can talk a little and communicate," he said.

Jean Westwood, the outgoing chairman, who resigned under fire Saturday, had said both she and Strauss were symbols of extremes, and she tried to prevent his succession.

Strauss' victory was hardly a mandate. A vote to oust Mrs. Westwood failed 105 to 100. Strauss was elected with 106½ votes. A combined total of 97¼ votes went to two would-be compromise candidates, California party Chairman Charles Manatt and George Mitchell, Maine national committeeman who headed Sen. Edmund Muskie's presidential campaign.

200 Attend Boys Choir Concert

The fifth annual Christmas Concert of the Circleville Boys' Choir was given yesterday afternoon at the Community United Methodist Church. Nearly two hundred parents and friends attended the concert which was the first public performance of the choir this year.

The choir, directed by Paul Dunkle, gave a program of songs which led the listener from the hills of Bethlehem to the manger scene of the newborn child.

Following the intermission, the choir gave six selections of secular holiday songs.

Seventeen of the 22 members in the choir were used as soloists or instrumentalists during the hour long program. The same concert will be given later in the week at the Circleville Home, and during the caroling which the boys do each year near the place where they rehearse.
